

Lighthouse patterns

Write the number in the light of the lighthouse that continues the pattern.

A good way to spot many number patterns is to make a new series of numbers by subtracting the numbers next to each other in the original series.

Spotting patterns is important in writing good programs.